Eataly Paris Marais supports hospital staff at Paris' Bichat-Claude Bernard AP-HP Hospital

Paris, March 30, 2020

In a response to the unprecedented health crisis affecting the country, Eataly Paris Marais – the Italian market Galeries Lafayette group has the exclusive franchise for in France – is putting its expertise in “healthy eating” to use so that Assistance Publique-Hôpitaux de Paris carers can eat well.

Making the most of its city-centre location, Eataly Paris Marais and its chefs have put together a special service that supplies the “Covid-19” unit at Paris' Bichat AP-HP Hospital with meals five days a week for the duration of the crisis.

Through this initiative, Eataly Paris Marais and its teams want to contribute to the wave of national solidarity and demonstrate their deep respect for and immense gratitude to the people working tirelessly to solve this unparalleled situation.

They take special care to ensure the meals are prepared in strict compliance with current health guidelines. Every day, the Eataly Paris Marais teams take it in turns to create traditional Italian meals that will brighten the days of the hospital carers, as much as possible. They use high-quality, seasonal produce and the recipes that have made the name of this unique concept and establishment which has now been open in the heart of Paris' Marais district for a year.
